

My Dream has become a paradise

Jagorawi Golf & Country Club
 Founder Mr. Zakir

The Old Course started construction in 1976 with only a few earthmoving machines and a lot of manpower however the dream to create a championship course started a long time earlier. The original design was by Peter Thomson & Mike Wolveridge whose 3rd design partner at that time was a gentleman by the name of Ronald Fream who went on to become one of the most sought after course designers of the 80's & 90's most probably due to his personal attention to each and every project and unselfish policy to train staff and leave as much knowledge behind as possible.

Alongside Ron Fream was another future course design & construction legend by the name of Max Wexler who was on site every day through the six years it took to have 18 holes open for play.

Max Wexler went on to build the New Course under the same design team minus Ron Fream and eventually join forces with Mr. Zakir to draw up the Z-Nine, one of the prettiest golf holes imaginable which interweave with both the Cikeas and Cisadane rivers. A lot of hard work and heartaches have gone into the development of these courses and to see so many people enjoy them week in week out, that really makes it all worth while.

Probably one of the proudest moments for JGCC was to host both the 1996 and 1997 Indonesian Open. To have such great players as American Mark Calcavecchia and Australian Craig Parry (1997 Champion) praising the challenge of Jagorawi was certainly encouraging.

This Club has always been a breeding ground for champions and it shows with the results we obtain, such as inaugural champions of the 2005 Bank Commonwealth Premier League and also defending that title successfully to stay on top in 2006. Our champions are getting younger with our youngest ever Club Champion Koo Jae Yong at just 16 years of age winning the title in 2006 and going on to win the Indonesian Junior Open as well as the 2006 Champion of Champions .

The Jagorawi Old Course was mentioned amongst 40 selected courses in Michael Hobbs book "The Worlds Great Golf Courses" published in 1998. The Old Course was ranked 28th in James Spence's 2004 book "Asia's Top 50 Golf Courses" and again the 2005 book "The Finest Golf Courses of Asia & Australasia" by the same Author.
